Dr. Peabody Of Groton Hurt in Paris

PARIS, Aug. 25 (INS)—Dr. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of famous Groton school where President Roosevelt and scores of other prominent Americans had their preparatory education, was seriously injured in a taxicab collision here today.

Dr. Peabody's wife was slightly hurt.

The noted educator was rushed to the American Hospital at Neuilly.

Left for Paris After John-Anne Wedding

Dr. and Mrs. Peabody left the United States in June, soon after the John Roosevelt-Anne Lindsay Clark wedding, at which he officiated.

He planned a restful stay in Europe, intending to return during the second week of September, in

GEORGE WEINBERG LEAVES COURT AFTER J. J. HINES (INSET) CALLED HIM "LIAR"

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—Defense Attorney Lloyd P. Stryker, in cross-examining George Weinberg, key witness for the prosecution at the trial of Tammany Leader James J. Hines today, virtually accused the former "Dutch" Schultz gang lieutenant of stealing $300,000 that was in the vault of the Schultz mob late in the fall of 1933.

"Did you steal that money, Weinberg?" asked Stryker in a loud voice.

"Schultz had it," replied the witness.

Stryker pounded away on the question of how much money the Schultz mob, which had "muscle in" and taken over the policy business, had in the bank at various times—and also what happened to the money.

Hines listened closely to Stryker's cross-examination of Weinberg. The 61-year-old defendant was attired today in a dark gray business suit, white shirt and red tie.

Stryker asked Weinberg to ex-

HULL TO UNMASK FOREIGN AGENTS

By CECIL B. DICKSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 — Uncle Sam will strip the mask from all foreign paid propagandists and agents in this country under regulations to be promulgated by Secretary of State Hull immediately after Labor Day, International News Service learned today.

Sensational revelations that prominent Americans, as well as many aliens, are being paid by foreign governments to spread propaganda against the United States' democratic form of government, were promulgated by high officials.

UNDER NEW ACT

Hull will issue the regulations under the act signed by President Roosevelt June 8, and which became effective September 8.

The new law requires that all propagandists and agents in the pay of any foreign government or agency must register with the secretary of state within 30 days. A penalty of a $1000 fine and two years imprisonment is provided for violators.

Certain newspapermen in Washington and New York working for European governments or agencies may come within the regulations, it was learned.

The law provides for registration of all persons except accredited diplomats in the employ of foreign governments, a political party of a foreign government, including the Communist and Nazi parties, any foreign business, partnership, association, corporation, or political organization.

MANY INCLUDED

These employees specifically include public-relations counsel, publicists, agents, representatives, attorneys of any foreign government, or of any corporation in this country subsidized by a foreign government.

Under the regulations to be issued, they are required to give full information on the foreign governments or agencies that employ them, their contracts, pay and name sources of their compensation.

Dies Hearings Will Bar Spectators

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (INS).—Charging that an organized campaign is under way to discredit the House Un-American Activities Committee, Chairman Martin Dies (D) of Texas, announced today spectators will be barred from hearings held outside of Washington.

"We will invite newspaper men to be present along with the witnesses," said Dies. "But we know that efforts would be made to break up the hearings if they were thrown wide open to spectators."

Future hearings, under the committee plan, will deal more extensively with Communist activities in various parts of the country.

New Law Costs Set High Mark

In the record-breaking session of the 150th Massachusetts Legislature, prorogued late yesterday after sitting 232 days, there were 498 acts and 91 resolves passed, and signed by Governor Hurley.

Costliest as well as longest was this session, with an all-time high spending program of $82,115,872 and the highest state tax on record fixed, $17,000,000.

Among more important measures adopted was one providing for a special commission to reshape councilor and senatorial districts and reapportion the number of representatives to which each county shall be entitled.

IMPORTANT MEASURES

Other ranking measures included the following:

Legislation making breach of promise suits illegal.

Reduction from 4½ to 4 per cent in interest rate on unpaid local taxes.

Extension of Boston police commissioner term from five to seven years.

Election in each county on hots, and dog racing every four years.

Amending Boston charter, so

Boston's mayor can be a candidate to succeed himself.

NEW REGISTRATION

A state-wide verification of voting lists prior to 1940 election, registration to begin December 1.

Reorganizing State Department of Mental Diseases under new title, State Department of Mental Health.

Recodifying Boston building laws.

Amending unemployment compensation laws, including suspension for one year from July 1 of employee contributions.

Revising state securities law to bring oil royalties under supervision of Public Utilities Commission.

A last minute act of the legislators was to vote themselves $21,000 additional as travel expenses and the final feature was defeat of Mayor John W. Lyons' and Governor Hurley's proposal to build a $5,000,000 extension to the Cambridge subway.

Despite this defeat, the Cambridge city council granted authority to Mayor Lyons to place his proposal before federal officials.

Roosevelt Calls Farley Parley

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt called James A. Farley today for a conference which may result in an intensified administration drive to defeat anti-New Deal Democrats in Congress.

The Roosevelt-Farley talk, scheduled for sometime today or tomorrow, was considered one of the most politically important of the President's stay here.

Roosevelt presumably wanted to talk with his political generalissimo about campaign developments in Maryland, New York, Idaho, Georgia, South Carolina and Connecticut.

Bates Warns Roosevelt Purge Means Dictator

Success of President Roosevelt's attempted "purge" of anti-New Deal Democrats in the coming elections would mean an "assured" American dictatorship, according to Congressman George J. Bates of Salem.

He told a Republican gathering at Belmont Springs Country Club that if White House pressure defeated such "real American Democrats" as Senator George of Georgia and Representative O'Connor of New York "the three-branch form of American government will cease to exist."

"During his recent tour of the country, the President has indicated he is speaking as head of the Democratic party, not in his capacity as chief executive," Congressman Bates said.

"Nevertheless, every word he utters is accepted as coming from Roosevelt the President."

"We must not only guard against ruin of our whole economic structure, but we must also disperse the unquestionably autocratic dreams of President Roosevelt."

"Because the President awoke one night and called newspapermen around him to declare he had no intention of becoming a dictator is no reason for anyone to assume that he does not want to become a dictator."

"President Roosevelt has long been famous for saying one thing today and doing exactly the opposite tomorrow and that is exactly his procedure in this dictator subject."

A big Texas steer, yearning for the open range, dived from a seventh-story window of a packing house into the White River.

The steer swam the river, trotted through town and put on several impromptu bull fights with bystanders who played cowboy and gave chase. Finally two policemen shot and killed the animal.

PLEDGE AID FOR FOES OF DEAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (INS).—Democratic nominees of the United States Senate will have the support of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, regardless of whether they are pro or anti-New Deal, Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan, chairman of the committee, declared today.

The pronouncement was interpreted as once a sharp blow at President Roosevelt's purge, which already has reached into four states. It was the first statement on the attitude of a powerful Democratic committee since the purge began.

It means that Senators Tydings of Maryland, George of Georgia and Smith of South Carolina will have the backing of the Democratic party, if they are nominated, even though Mr. Roosevelt should himself support his own choices on third party tickets.

Brown left the door open however, for endorsement and financial aid to Senator James P. Pope of Idaho if evidence can be produced providing he, rather than Rep. D. Worth Clark, who defeated him for the nomination in the recent primary, is the real choice of Idaho Democrats.

Pope and President Roosevelt have contended Republicans voted for Clark in the Democratic primary to effect the senator's defeat.

WILL WEIGH EVIDENCE

Brown said his committee would consider any evidence the Idaho State Democratic Committee may care to submit on the subject.

Brown's statement that his committee will support all Democratic senatorial nominees, regardless of how warm or cool toward the New Deal they may be, proved a sensation in the capital.

Some observers believed they saw in the pronouncement the hand of Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley. The latter, who returned to the capital yesterday for the first time since his Alaska trip, is reported strongly opposed to the purge campaign.

In Kidnap-Mutilation

Husband-Avenger
Links Officials

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 25 (INS)—State officials stood by and encouraged him to take matters in his own hands when he charged that Irving Baker, 37, handsome automobile dealer, had attacked his young wife, Dr. Kent W. Berry, 54, socialite physician, alleged today.

Piling sensation upon sensation of the kidnaping, torture and attempted mutilation of Baker, the doctor through his attorney, C. D. Cunningham, named Prosecutor Smith Troy and State Patrol Chief William Cole.

Dr. Berry and three other men are held under $25,000 bail accused of kidnaping and first degree assault. A fifth man, Harold Schars, deputy county coroner, is under arrest on accusation of harboring two of the doctor's asserted accomplices.

ALL 4 CONFESS

Baker was taken from his home Friday night by four men who posed as officers and presented a fake warrant. He was taken to a deserted quarry, bound and severely beaten. His flesh was gouged with a pair of pliers in a mutilation attempt.

All four men held have made confessions, authorities said.

Troy declared he was called to the Berry home shortly after a Fourth of July party and found the young wife in bed, badly beaten and with her eyes blacked. She was hysterical, he said.

At that time, Troy said, Berry claimed his wife had admitted illicit relations with Baker during the party, but did not mention an assault or ask for legal action.

JUSTIFIED BY WIFE

Troy said he had learned that Mrs. Berry was absent from the party between 3 and 7 a. m.

The doctor's beautiful young wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Berry, 27, half the age of her husband, declared "the doctor was justified" and revealed that the $25,000 bond for his release had been raised.

Prosecutor Troy charges Dr. Berry enlisted the aid of the three men held with him in kidnaping and then torturing Baker.

Declaring that "the trial will rock the state," Troy said the accused men admitted participation in the torture-abduction but charged Dr. Berry misled them by saying he intended to give Baker only a beating.

Troy promised that prominent residents of Seattle, Tacoma, Bremerton and Olympia will be called to give testimony about the Fourth of July party at Dr. Berry's summer home.

Stokowski Hides Here?

He May Wed Garbo Soon,
But Servants Not Told

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 25—Leopold Stokowski may be an internationally famous figure in the world of music, but backstairs at the castle-like Hammond mansion, here, he's just "that man they say Greta Garbo's going to marry."

GRETA GARBO
Coming Here?

Reported as a guest of wealthy Richard Hammond, Orchestra Conductor Stokowski needed no dark glasses today to preserve his incognito.

For Hammond servants, from head maid to lowliest scullery maid, agreed they had never heard of Mr. Stokowski and wouldn't know him if he sat at table for luncheon.

GIRL REPORTER SLIPS IN

The big front door of the Hammond home was definitely closed to visitors from the press today. Not even the electrically-controlled outside gates of the Hammond estate would swing open at repeated knocks of reporters.

The grocer's boy, however, had the password, and one girl reporter followed him to the Hammond mansion's service entrance.

There she chatted with a housekeeper.

Said the latter:

HONEYMOON THERE

"No, ma'am. We haven't seen any Mr. Stokowski, so far as we know. Who is he, anyway?"

"Oh, the man Miss Garbo the screen actress is going to marry? That's different. I guess we've heard of him."

"Well, now, I wouldn't say he isn't here. You know, Mr. Richard Hammond don't introduce his guests to us."

"Have we heard anything about Mr. Stokowski planning to have his honeymoon here with Greta Garbo?"

"Lord, no, child! But wouldn't that be wonderful?"

It's all right with Mrs. Leary if her husband doesn't want to be elected delegate to the Democratic State convention—but she's putting her foot down on his telephoning friends—and enemies—not to vote for him.

That was Special Officer Thomas H. Leary's announcement in Cambridge today.

"What'm I going to do now?" asked the unwilling candidate. "The missus says I'm running up too much of a phone bill."

Leary, whose name was placed on the ballot without his o. k., still says he wants to be defeated. He doesn't want to be a delegate, he says.

2 Girl Hikers
Held in Slaying

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Aug. 25 (INS)

Two Tennessee mountain girls were held here today in what authorities said might prove to be America's first instance of murder by women hitchhikers.

The girls, Gene Brooks, 25, vivacious redhead of Elizabeth, Tenn., and Beulah Honeycutt, 25, of John City, Tenn., stocky blonde, were seized as they left a bus at Hopkinsville, Ky.

They had been hunted by police of three states in the slaying of Felix Shannon, 26, wealthy churchman and farmer. Shannon was found shot to death, nude, near a litter of women's garments in his farmhouse near Mt. Erie, Ill.

The girls were identified to investigators as those to whom Shannon gave a lift in his car before he was slain last Sunday. Both denied any knowledge of the crime and said they never had been in Illinois.

Sheriff Ernest Burkett, who returned with the prisoners today, said he had trailed them through Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky on descriptions furnished by Shannon's son, who said his father gave a lift in his car to two women hitchhikers at Princeton, Ind.

Probers Plan to Roast Selves in 'Death Oven'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania prison investigators said today they would "turn on the heat" and enter the stuffy cells where four hunger-striking convicts suffocated, to learn whether the punishment cell block was "a deliberately planned roaster."

Charles I. Engard, secretary of welfare directing the state's investigation of the deaths in the Philadelphia county prison Monday, disclosed that men from his office and two state policemen would make the test.

He said they would subject themselves to the same conditions the prisoners face, in the heated cells termed as horrible as the "Black Hole of Calcutta."

"They plan to close the windows and ventilators," he said, "just as we understand they were closed Sunday night, and have the steam pressure in the radiators turned on to the same degree they were when the prisoners were there."

He said he wanted to know if large radiators in the cell block were really needed just to heat the building in the winter, or if there was something else in mind.

HINT "DEATH OVEN"

Arrest of at least eight other persons in the "baking to death" of the convicts was predicted by the coroner. He said the investigation he is conducting with District Attorney Boyle indicated that at least that many would be implicated in the deaths.

William B. Mills, superintendent of the prison, said if the building was deliberately planned as a "roaster," he was unaware of it. Coroner Charles A. Hersch announced he would ask Governor George H. Earle for state troopers to take over the prison during the investigation.

With two guards already held on homicide charges in connection with the deaths, Hersch said he had warrants for the arrest of four other persons—two of them prison officials—and declared additional arrests might result in a breakdown of the prison administration unless the entire staff was replaced.

The coroner said the convicts suffocated in almost air-tight cells where they were confined during an organized revolt against a "monotonous" diet. Steam raditors were turned on full, he declared, and "in two days steaming, they (the convicts) literally baked to death."

Common Pleas Judge Gerald F. Flood placed the coroner and the district attorney in sole charge of the investigation after Hersch charged that the arrest of the two guards by city police was "premature." It was the first time a case had been taken from the police and given to a district attorney in 20 years.

The guards, Alfred W. Brough, 28, and Francis Smith, 42, were held in $2500 bail each for further hearings next Tuesday.

Hersch said the arrests, ordered by Mayor S. Davis Wilson, were made without his knowledge. He declared the action temporarily halted triple investigations by himself, the district attorney and the state, inasmuch as the two guards had volunteered information and that now they don't have to talk unless they want to because they are defendants.

Links Carroll In New Killing

slaying, Sheriff Bridges said he will make a thorough investigation.

According to Violette, brother of a former Maine forestry commissioner, a woman's name was mentioned in the quarrel he claims took place in the filling station between Carroll and Penny.

Penny's father, John W. Penny, was shot to death in the woods near the Androscoggin-Oxford county line in 1928.

One police theory for the second Penny death was that the son had never relaxed his efforts to clear up his father's murder and there were reports that shortly before his death he had hinted that he was on the verge of discovering the identity of his father's killer.

SHERIFF TO PROBE

It was recalled also today that following Carroll's arrest on a morals charge involving his daughter, Barbara, and his subsequent indictment for Dr. Littlefield's murder, there were reports that Penny had been talking pointedly about Carroll in connection with the Littlefield case.

Await Finding In Waldron Death Probe

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 25—A pathological report on the death of Mrs. Edith Blair Waldron, unofficially declared to show no indication of foul play, was expected to be made public here today.

At the same time, state police detectives reached Vero Beach, Fla., and prepared at once to return the dead woman's husband, William G. Waldron, Stockbridge tree surgeon, accused of larceny from her estate.

The report of the examination was sent to Medical Examiner George S. Wickham by Drs. Timothy Leary and Joseph T. Walker of Boston, who made the examination. Unofficially it was reported that no evidence of foul play was discovered and that Mrs. Waldron died of natural causes.

Waldron, who declared at Florida that he was a victim of a "frame-up" by jealous persons, was ready to return voluntarily with State.

At the same time, District Attorney Thomas Moriarty announced that in court today he would ask continuance for a week in the case of Dr. Walter C. Sinnigen of South Egremont.

Dr. Sinnigen is charged with receiving stolen property from the estate, pending Waldron's return, and is free in $2000 bail.

Trial of Graves Sept. 14; Doyle To Prosecute

Frederick H. Graves, charged with perjury in connection with the recent Curley-Santomaso case, will go to trial September 14, District Attorney William Foley announced today.

First Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle has been assigned to handle the prosecution, Foley said.

Graves, it was revealed, "made a statement" to Captain John McCarthy and Detective Paul Crowley when he was brought back to Boston. He "shut up," however, when he observed a police stenographer taking notes, and later he refused to sign a typewritten transcript, it was stated.

District Attorney Foley denied the statement is in his possession. It is believed to be in the hands of Police Commissioner Timilty.

It is understood that it was in this conversation with McCarthy and Crowley that Graves, or so it is said, named the "prominent Boston attorney" and "business executive" as the two men who paid him to testify in the Curley-Santomaso case.

The date set for his trial is only about a week before the primaries in which former Governor James M. Curley is again a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

4 Lose Lives As Gale Breaks Summer Spell

Two men were drowned, a third killed by lightning and a fourth lost his life through exposure while mountain climbing, as a result of yesterday's storm, the waning summer season's first gale.

Drowned in Duxbury bay when a squall overturned their skiff were Patrolman Edward Killian, 43, Pinehurst street, Roslindale, a member of the Boston Police Department, and Wilbur Herriek, 45, Sumner park, Dorchester.

Killed by lightning was Stephen Fudge, a member of the crew of the Boston swordfishing schooner Nyoda. He was struck by a bolt while the schooner was off Georges Bank.

Joseph Cagliano, 17, Long Island City, N. Y., died of exhaustion and exposure in a sleet storm that swept Mt. Adams, near Randolph, N. H. He had climbed 4800 feet.

Philip Turner, of East Bridge-water, and Frank Carrese, of Long Island City, who were with him, managed to crawl to Madison Spring hut at the mountain top before collapsing. They were under treatment today.

U. S. Army engineers and the coast guard today pulled the 7-foot schooner-yacht Flying Cloud III from a reef off Bournemouth, Cape Cod. Allen Bennett of Boston, owner of the yacht, and a party of guests, were aboard when the yacht struck the reef in the gale. None was injured. The yacht was towed into Buzzards Bay.

No Suicides

Death Leap Rule Hinders His Work

WATERBURY, Ct., Aug. 25 (AP)—Manager Thomas Shea of the state unemployment compensation office didn't want any suicide dives from his office.

When a stranger entered, hurried to a window and began to climb out, Shea and several others dragged him back.

They returned sheepishly to their desks after their ungrateful captive explained—he had been hired to remove a sign from outside of the building.

1200 Kiddies Vie For Garden Prizes

The children's garden show opened today at Horticultural Hall, with 1200 youngsters in competition for cash awards offered for the largest and best vegetables and the most beautiful flowers.

Their gardens have also served the practical purpose of providing fresh vegetables for many needy families. Daniel W. O'Brien has been in charge of the movement, with H. G. Wendler as his assistant.

Hawks' Ashes Flown to Wife

REDDING, Conn., Aug. 25 (AP)—A simple bronze urn containing the ashes of the speed flier, Frank Hawks, was brought to his home here today after being flown to nearby Danbury from Buffalo, near where the ace was killed in a plane crash Tuesday.

Pilot Dick Benson, Buffalo, Gibbon Gardner, a business associate of Hawks, and Mack R. Carlin, a former flying partner of the aviator, flew the urn from Buffalo and turned it over to Mrs. Hawks. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the flier's home, Hawks Nest. The Rev. Lynde May, chaplain of the New York City American Legion post to which Hawks belonged, will officiate.

'Sinning' Wife Takes Blame For Mutilation

While authorities at first expressed unbelief over the weird self-mutilation, Mrs. Harwell explained she had inflicted the injuries on herself after reading a portion of the Bible which says:

"If thy hand or thy foot causeth thee to stumble, cut it off . . ."

The woman's husband, Woodrow Harwell, 20-year-old cotton picker, told District Attorney F. A. Silveira that his wife performed the self-mutilation after kneeling in prayer with her five and seven-year-old sons.

According to the husband, Mrs. Harwell arose saying her left hand and right eye had offended her and she wished forgiveness for her sins.

She went outside and pried her eye from its socket. Three times she struck her arm with an axe before severing the hand.

Physicians announced she held a good chance for recovery, despite a terrific loss of blood.

$50 a Week Picket Fee Faces Fight

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 25 (AP)—National and state units of the American Civil Liberties Union mobilized forces today for a protest against a proposed ordinance to charge a $50-a-week picketing fee in this village.

Passed by the board of commissioners on first reading, the proposed ordinance fixes a fine of $200 or 90 days in jail for persons carrying signs on public streets without payment of the fee.

LEWIS MILLS DEAD

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., Aug. 25 (AP)—Lewis Mills, 56, for 26 years a resident of Ballardvale, Mass., is dead here today. A native of St. Stephen, Mills was connected with a Boston cotton manufacturing company and formerly was with the Bank of Nova Scotia, Boston.

Morgenthau Hit by Nazis

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (INS)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau was assailed today as a "Jew with bulging eyes" who is endeavoring to entangle the United States in an anti-Fascist alliance in Europe.

The description and accusation were published in the Nazi newspaper Der Angriff, which said:

"Who is Morgenthau? Primarily a Jew with bulging, near-sighted eyes, behind thick eyeglasses. This Jew is now in Europe on a special mission in Paris where he is engaged in highly suspicious secret conferences."

Zoo Fire Set

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 25—Martin F. Noonan, superintendent of Rogers Williams Park today branded as incendiary a fire which broke out in the park's animal house, taking the lives of 15 monkeys.

The trumpeting of an elephant warned attendants of the blaze in time to save many other animals.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. There are a certain number of letters in the picture illustration above, which when assembled will spell KANE'S a given number of times. The nearest number of correct times KANE'S is represented, plus extra letters (if any) will win the first prize. All other prizes will be awarded in the order of their correct total that the name of KANE'S appears in this picture illustration. It is not necessary to cut out the letters.

2. Any person over eighteen (18) years may enter this contest except those in our employ or their families. Only one prize will be awarded to a family. Only one entry will be accepted from any one contestant. There will be only one complete set of prizes for all Kane's stores.

3. This is an easy, not a guessing, contest. We reserve the right to eliminate all entries that are not within fifty (50) times that the full name of KANE'S appears. These will not be eligible to receive any award. Such entrants will receive a Gift Certificate for the interest taken in the contest. Every adult who makes an honest effort to assemble correctly the number of times the name KANE'S appears will receive a FREE award for his or her efforts (on calling at any Kane Store after notification to do so), if not entitled to receive one of the major prizes.

4. The artist who made this drawing presented his affidavit as to the count. Other sworn statements attesting to the correctness of the count were likewise given the judges. Regardless, however, of the correct number of times the full name is spelled out and how many of each individual letter are left over, it is understood all contestants enter this Contest accepting such sworn statements as correct and with the understanding that the judges' decision is final.

5. Mail or bring your answer in person. Sign your name and address plainly. All answers mailed must bear a postmark before midnight Monday, Sept. 5, 1938. Address answers to CONTEST MANAGER, KANE'S OFFICE, 208 Camden St., Roxbury, Mass.

6. Prominent, impartial judges will award all prizes. Special consideration will be given for neatness, attractiveness, originality and unique presentation of the entry. On this basis, and in case of ties, the judges will have the sole right to decide the winners. It is distinctly understood that all entries and original and unique presentations submitted are to become Kane's property.

7. The management reserves the right to award additional Credit Checks, Redeemable on a purchase as indicated in the 6th and 8th prize awards.

8. It is not sufficient to determine the number of times the full name of KANE'S appears within the picture illustration. You must state definitely how many individual letters are left over.

9. The correct answers and names and addresses of all major prize winners will be on display at 740 Washington St., and all Kane stores.

10. The 6th and 8th Prize Awards are credit checks good for $50.00 on purchases of $200 or over. Likewise $25 on purchases of $100 or over, $15.00 on $60 and $10 on $40 purchases—a genuine saving from our usual low prices.

The copyright owners of this contest are interested in learning what articles are preferred by the winners of the $200.00 First Prize. Please state your preference on a separate sheet of paper. This is optional and will in no way affect your entry in this contest.

JENNEY

Solvenized will save money for you
EVERY MILE
YOU DRIVE

PERFECT TEAMMATE

For Jenney Solvenized is Jenney Solvenoil, the Extreme Pressure Motor Oil. It protects the lower zone of your motor just as Solvenized protects the upper zone. Solvenoil resists carbon and sludge; reduces friction, heat, and wear; lasts longer and protects better.

Increases power and mileage, reduces repairs
—because of exclusive patented process

• You who watch your motor's performance will get a new idea of its power and snap when you use Jenney Solvenized Gasoline. Mileage and power will go up because Solvenized combats carbon—it dissolves gum, the carbon binder, and lets the softened carbon blow out the exhaust. Result is that valves seat better, piston rings function again, so that gasoline vapor that used to leak away is kept in the cylinders to drive your car farther, with greater and smoother power.

Solvenized is a fully patented process, developed in a great engineering laboratory, endorsed by engineers, and enthusiastically approved by tens of thousands of motorists.

All gasolines produce carbon . . . Jenney is the only one which can give you this remarkable process to combat carbon and so give you the power you pay for.

Drive with Jenney and you will know you are getting more mileage for your money, more power, a motor safer from those repair bills caused by carbon.

Start using Jenney Solvenized today, and spend less for driving.

British Ready For New Pledge To Aid France

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
(Copyright 1938)

LONDON, Aug. 25 (INS). The British government is prepared to promise to France a declaration reinforcing fullest support should the French become involved in war, International News Service learned today.

This would mean that if France became involved in war by fulfilling the obligations of her alliance with Czechoslovakia, Great Britain would not stand aside.

Declaration of British stand regarding France will probably take place within the next few days and will be a declaration given France, undoubtedly, association with which she became involved in 1914 as a result of France's treaty with Great Britain.

With Dr. Paul J. Jakmauh of Boston again nominated by Governor Hurley for the post of state commissioner of public health, the Massachusetts Medical Society today reviewed its protests suggesting two competent men for the position.

The Executive Council is expected to act September 7. Dr. Henry Fitzgerald, present commissioner, is resigned effective September 15 to become medical director at Middlesex County Sanitarium.

The society suggested Dr. Gay Anderson, formerly with the department and now in Minneapolis, and an unnamed person now a member of the Massachusetts department.

Low Tax Plea By Fitzgerald

An appeal for business and even citizens to "save Boston" from the danger of high taxes made by former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald in an address before the Boston City Club today held the interest of business leaders.

Warning that high taxes drives out industry, Fitzgerald said: "Why should manufacturing come to Boston when the tax rate is $11.02? And if the city hadn't borrowed to keep it down, the rate would be $15.40. He compared this with tax rates in other cities, ranging from $19.36 in St. Paul to $28.60 in Cleveland.

German Arms Might Displayed for Horthy

BUDAPEST, Aug. 25 (AP). The German government, following up a statement of the Foreign Office, said today that it was prepared to supply Hungary with arms and munitions.

In an exchange of letters, a Hungarian official, General Adolf Horthy, said that he was prepared to accept the German offer.

The wish for continuation of peaceful reconstruction which animates us and our friends is safe insurance that our people can pursue successfully the high aim of peace based on mutual good will and justice through further close collaboration, thereby serving best their own interests and those of the rest of the world.

Newspapers said the display was intended to give "our Hungarian friends an indelible impression of our army and our air force, thus, after the days at Kiel, on the sea, and at Heligoland, rounding out the picture of our armed forces."

Japs Ready to Shoot More Civilian Planes

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25 (AP)—A Japanese naval spokesman served warning today that any civilian plane flying over what Japan has designated the war area of China is in danger of being shot down.

He declared that the airliner of the Chinese-American China National Aviation Corporation which was shot down near Shanghai yesterday was the first of a series of such attacks. The Japanese navy has designated all of China east of a line between Peking, in the north and San in westernmost Shensi province, a zone of hostilities.

time for the opening of Canton School. He founded the school more than half a century ago and has been its headmaster since that time.

With Dr. and Mrs. Peabody were their two daughters, Margery and Elizabeth.

One of New England's most famous school educators, Dr. Peabody was born in 1855 and was a member of several generations of Peabody families.

President Roosevelt, as a boy, was among his pupils at the late Theodore Roosevelt School.

Mrs. Peabody

Dr. Peabody was born in 1855 in the town of Canton, Mass.

He was educated at the University of Cambridge, England.

Yale and Harvard both gave him honorary degrees.

He became an Episcopal deacon in 1884 and entered the Episcopal ministry a year later.

In 1885, he married the then Miss Fannie Peabody. Six children were born to them.

DROPPED 100 YARDS
The wrecked automobile was dragged more than 100 yards. It was more than an hour before the bodies could be extricated from the demolished auto.

Engineer of the train, which left Hyannis at 9:20 a. m., day light time, was Frank Martin, conductor, Edward J. Lane.

The accident occurred at 9:37 a. m. Engineer Martin said the automobile, a light-colored coupe, flashed suddenly on the rails. He applied the brakes, but was unable to avert the crash.

TORCHES CUT METAL
Torches had to be used to cut through the wreckage of the crushed machine.

At the undertaking rooms Ambassador de Bianchi professed inability to identify the victims.

"No statement at this time," was his reply to requests for definite information.

The Portuguese consulate in New York stated Dr. and Mrs. de Faria, whose home is at 840 Grand Central, The Bronx, left New York for the Cape two months ago.

Hurley Blast On Two Fronts

By ALFRED D. WILTON

Permitted by the legislature's long-delayed prorogation to enter the political battlefield, Governor Hurley today swung with both fists as he drew his re-election campaign toward the primaries, less than a month away.

On one side he clamored at the Republicans who, behind scenes, the publication of his wishes. An imminent state tax will result, Hurley declared, and he blames it entirely on the Republicans.

"By their action, the state tax is doubled. It was entirely within the power of the Republican-controlled Legislature to adopt my recommendation and the state tax would have been reduced one half," the governor stated.

With equal force the state chief executive blasted his Democratic rivals for the gubernatorial nomination, citing instances in Fall River and other parts of the state where campaigners in previous years for other candidates have swung to his side.

"I am the only Democrat who ran for elected governor in November. The records of all three of my opponents are such that a Republican victory would be assured by the nomination of any one of them," Governor Hurley said.

Richard M. Russell, former congressman now a Democratic candidate for governor, hit back at Governor Hurley in an address he delivered at the Democratic Club in Marlboro, Monday night.

"Hurley's administration has been sadistic. It has produced the last budget, the highest state fund the longest sitting Legislature in the history of Massachusetts."

Asking the support of youth in his own Leverett saloon, Russell said his campaign today with promptly work for new justice. Russell said if he were the GOP nominee in a fall election.

"I shall try to maintain Massachusetts industries and to attract new industries to this commonwealth," he said, "so that young men and women may have the opportunity to live clean, decent, honest lives."

More than workers cheered Lieutenant Governor Kelly as he visited Lawrence and Lowell during his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor. Speaker of House Thomas T. Chubb, running lieutenant governor, lauded Republican Governor Hurley which a $500,000 a year and a new fiscal high is projected.

AMERICA SEES COMMUNISM UNMASKED

IN ITS PUBLIC hearings at Washington, the Dies Committee is performing a memorable service by dragging into the fullest light of day the secret and sinister machinations of Russian Communism in the United States.

And, in so doing, the Committee has presented to America complete confirmation of what the Hearst newspapers have been saying continually ever since these newspapers undertook, a few years ago, to awaken the people to the increasing menace of this Moscow-directed conspiracy against our free institutions.

The picture as it is now being unveiled is one which cannot be ignored.

The case against Communism and pretended liberalism is one which cannot be controverted.

Nobody can any longer seriously deny that Communism has captured the union labor movement in a most effective manner.

Nobody can any longer seriously deny that the screen is taint with Communism.

Nobody can any longer seriously deny that the stage is prostituted to Communism—and particularly, that phase of the stage which the Federal Government itself supports out of the National Treasury in the name of unemployment relief.

For it has been incontestably shown that the WPA theater is an active force, NOT ONLY FOR COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA, but also FOR ACTUAL ENLISTMENT OF RELIEF CLIENTS IN COMMUNIST ORGANIZATIONS.

This Communist enlistment is created not merely by radical propaganda but is often ENFORCED by blacklists and by cruel coercion, while supposedly responsible officials actually connive in the subversive work.

Could anything be indeed more alarming to patriotic Americans than the established fact that the Communist organization, formerly known as the League Against War and Fascism, and now masquerading under the deceiving title of "The AMERICAN League for PEACE and DEMOCRACY," was INVENTED IN MOSCOW and was organized here by an ALIEN COMMUNIST working under the orders of the Communist International?

Could anything be more shocking to decent citizens than to learn that certain public officials and public employees are participating members of this camouflaged device of the Comintern; and that other officials of government high in rank and position have given their endorsement and their encouragement?

DIRECT and UNEQUIVOCAL testimony to these outrageous facts has been given before the Dies Committee, under oath, by none less than Professor J. B. Matthews, who was THE FIRST NATIONAL CHAIRMAN OF THE MOSCOW-LINKED LEAGUE and was for several years himself in immediate liaison both with the Communist Party here and with the Stalinist cabal in Moscow.

In another part of his testimony, Professor Matthews explained that many of the Red satellite organizations are "innocent traps"—contrivances by which, in the guise of assisting worthy causes, simple boobies are lured of money to promote Communism, and distinguished persons are "exploited" through the public use of their names and their prestige.

We can understand how that might be true of persons of meager intelligence and limited information.

But how can it be true of highly educated persons—of such literate and articulate persons as presidents and professors in the colleges, or bishops and preachers in the Evangelical churches?

THE TIME has come when certainly every denomination must join wholeheartedly for God and country.

We do not know what our Government will do to save itself.

But we do know what the churches must do, together with our truly patriotic societies.

As William Randolph Hearst has said editorially, what the churches have done for MORALITY they will have to do for LOYALTY.

What they have done for PEACE they will have to do for PATRIOTISM.

The Editor Says:

SENATORS and Representatives who voted themselves ADDITIONAL travel expense money amounting to 50 per cent of the regular sum allotted to them will have abundant explaining to do when, with the added cash in their pockets, they go home to face their constituents.

For weeks, all the while they were playing politics with the unemployment issue, these legislators cried economy and professed great concern for the plight of the taxpayer.

But when the opportunity came to help the taxpayer at the expense of a little personal sacrifice, they failed miserably. Into their own purses went a total of $21,000 extra, with some of the lowest champions of economy getting as much as $300.

A few years ago when Senators and Representatives likewise voted themselves additional funds, taxpayers howled a protest that was heard from one end of the State to the other.

What will happen now is problematic. Only Time and the approaching election will tell.

FRANK HAWKS, aviation pioneer, one of the country's greatest fliers, is dead, and millions mourn.

Holder of more than two hundred air records during his remarkable career, this intrepid lieutenant-commander will be remembered as long as men fly planes.

But merely to remember him will not be enough. Better by far would be nation-wide attention to the fact that his untimely death was CAUSED BY WIRES STRUNG ON POLES NEAR THE FIELD FROM WHICH HE ATTEMPTED A "TAKE-OFF."

Throughout the United States, in close proximity to both regular and emergency airports, there are thousands of such hazards to aviation safety. And sooner or later these DEATH TRAPS are bound to catch unsuspecting victims.

We could build a hundred monuments to Frank Hawks' memory, but none would be as worthy or as appropriate as the IMMEDIATE REMOVAL of all wires near flying fields.

YANKEE SELF-RELIANCE is ably defended in Governor George D. Aiken's new book, aptly titled "Speaking from Vermont." He writes:

"The principles of loving liberty, of self-reliance, of thrift and of liberalism have inspired Vermonters to the greatest, most satisfying of all ideals—SELF-RESPECT."

"We are not ashamed. We do not think it old-fashioned or reactionary to insist upon the principle of local self-government."

"We believe that remote control of government is ANTI-QUATED and not progressive."

Every high school student who has read the histories of such illustrious exponents of REMOTE CONTROL government as the Caesars and Napoleon knows the Governor is right.

As he says, government from a distance by one man or a small group of men is neither new nor progressive. In fact, it is more than "antiquated." IT IS AS OLD AS THE HILLS.

GOOD NEWS comes from Washington. President Roosevelt, approving names for eight new warships, announces that one will be called "Massachusetts."

This is suitable and proper. Our maritime achievements, in peace and war, deserve recognition in the American fleet.

A source of constant regret to Bay State patriots has been the fact that we have had no representation among the Navy's ships since 1920, when the cruiser bearing our name was sold as scrap.

Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25

LITTLE DAVEY LEWIS, touted all over the circus lot as the leading bareback cantalider rider under the political big top, isn't anything of the sort.

If one is speaking of coal-tails, it must be conceded that President Roosevelt is riding on Davey's, and not the other way around.

Little Davey, whose sanctified candidacy for the Senate in Maryland has the grand old "Free State" in its greatest rage since the British fired on Fort Mifflin, was a New Dealer while F. D. R. was still in Harvard.

IF DAVE should defeat Millard Tydings in consequence of the White House blessing and the Federal Treasury, the Senate will find in its midst next January a notable but erratic scholar, who studied Latin while a coal miner, and has been digging deeply ever since.

Thirty years ago the late Bill Bryan, returned from a trip to Europe, and talked himself right out of the Presidency by declaring for government ownership of the railroads.

Little Davey, the natural-born New Dealer, had beaten Orator Bill to that. Long before he entered Congress he drew up a couple of bills providing for government ownership of the rails, telegraph lines, and the telephone systems. They were so extreme that bewhiskered Dick Pettigrew, South Dakota's radical Senator, leaped like a hooked bass when he saw them.

THE PRESIDENT'S candidate for the Senate in Maryland has embraced many radical notions since those early days. His philosophy was Socialistic. Before becoming a Democrat he had been a Republican, and a Socialist.

He has a little private cubby hole in the Capitol Building, where he spends so much time poring over his books, studying new-fangled systems of European governments, that he frequently slips up on important roll calls.

However, when charged with this he laughs it off.

And laughing things off is to a New Dealer what the sterling mark is to a silver.

The Brighter Side

The Hines Trial's Jekyll-Hyde "Ghost"

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright, 1934, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright, 1934, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

DUTCH SCHULTZ, the fellow whose name figures so much in the trial of James J. Hines, the Tammany leader, was the least picturesque, we think, of all the big mob chieftains who rose to public enmity down through the wild and woolly '20's and afterwards.

He was phlegmatic in manner and appearance and had none of the gay camaraderie of Dion O'Bannon and none of the color and magnificent gesture of Capone in his big days.

Schultz looked as mild as milk. He was blondish and tended to be chubby. He had no distinguishing characteristics.

WHEN HE was sober, he was very quiet, but when drunk he was mean and quarrelsome and always trying to pick a fight. He was a safe tough guy when loaded with liquor but a great man for the house before he started trouble. He did not show up along Broa's way much during his early career when he was plodding along up in the Bronx gradual extending his beer empire, but then he took to coming downtown and spending money. He would be good for anywhere from a thousand to twenty-five hundred in a cafe when he was in a spending mood. He seldom carried the money with him but would come back the next night to settle and then he might spend as much more. He had a piece of a small joint in Seventh avenue near 49th street run by an old-time cafe fellow and he hung out there for a while. He may have put money in the joint to help out the old timer.

He was a product of the Bronx and started his racket career up there in beer and in his early days he did not pay much attention to his dream. Then when he got to going down town and mingling with the underworld elite he took to dressing up until he became quite a dude.

In his sober moments he was quite articulate and could carry on an interesting conversation in the topics of the day. Drunk, no one cared to be around him. He seldom brought women to the cafes but would meet them there. In his earlier days he did not go around "mobbed up." Usually just some fellow who drove his car was with him.

Damon Runyon

At that time Schultz, whose real name was Hogenheimer, was overshadowed by many big shot racket fellows down town and even up in his own Bronx. There was always a little question in the underworld about his courage.

THE UNDERWORLD thinks Schultz must have had a lot of money though it is understood not much of it has come to light since his death. Maybe he had it planted somewhere and never divulged the secret to anybody.

It is said that along toward the finish, Schultz was constantly saying "I'll kill that guy," or "Tell that guy I'll blow his brains out if he does not do what I say," though blowing out brains was not deemed a Schultz characteristic. He may have had it done but the underworld doubted that he had the nerve to do it himself.

It was pretty well understood some time before his death that Schultz had become generally obnoxious to a lot of folks. He was never satisfied and he was always demanding conditions that were deemed impossible by those of whom he demanded them. It is said that the impression was around that Schultz had to go. No nobody was much surprised when a squad of fast executioners walked in on him and a coterie of his men in that Newark saloon and wiped them out.

BETTY ALDEN

On Beacon Hill

Gay Field Day
On North Shore

By BETTY ALDEN

THE OLD JOKES about tight Scotchmen can't be true any more . . . for yesterday afternoon not a single man was admitted free to the Field Day held on Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr.'s estate in Ipswich, to benefit Ascension Memorial Church.

The committee chose a Scotch motif for the affair . . . with skirling bagpipes and girls sailing fifty and thirty pins . . . and also, though it is anyone coming in hats would be admitted free . . . But of all the hats on the North Shore, no one dared his knees and lunched his tartan to take advantage of the opportunity . . .

Quite to the contrary, most of the men wore "untrimmed" sports clothes . . . Women were also turned out in smart sports outfits, and for a short time wore the very, very latest in "untrimmed" hats . . . These bonnets were the products of the artistic and inventive ingenuity of the very same men who alternately snicker and hold up their hands in horror whenever a new and "different" crop of feminine headpieces arrives from Paris!

It was all a part of a novel obstacle race for the gentlemen . . . They all lined up on one side of the Burrage private polo field, and at the word "go," dashed across to a huge box which contained a number of untrimmed hats and enough feathers, veils, flowers and ribbons to delight the heart of any milliner . . .

Each contestant grabbed a hat and a handful of trimmings and hustled back to his lady fair . . . There he placed the hat upon her head and proceeded to trim it according to his fancy . . .

George Clark, 2d, brother of Polonists Tim and Nat Clark, won the prize with the model he created for Nancy Burrage . . .

Mr. Joseph F. Woods of Beacon Hill had his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joe Woods of Ipswich, as his partner . . . and when he proudly watched her parading the hat he was quite sure that it should gain her many votes in the Caumo's contest for the best dressed woman on the North Shore, in which she is now running second . . . but when she got a look at the masterpiece of navy straw with roses dripping over one side and a veil floating behind, she had her doubts! . . .

North Shore Set Well Represented

THIS FIELD DAY on the Burrage estate is an annual affair and everyone from the surrounding countryside turns out for it . . . Aristocratic Mrs. George Mandell got as big a kick out of fishing in a big white barrel for a grab as the little Forrester Clark youngsters . . . and even Major Jimmie Appleton, M. F. H. of Myopia for years, entered into the spirit of the occasion by buying numerous thistle pins and nosegays from the pretty salesgirls and then proceeding to wear them all on his coat lapel . . .

The girls found hairnets handy for keeping their long bobes neat in the strong wind which swept across the fields . . . Faith Kuller and her cousin, Diana Bird, were among the debs pressed into service to sell things . . . Diana had her dark hair piled up on top of her head in the new fashion, which is unusually becoming to her . . . Dolores Preston and Ellen Moseley were also vivacious salesgirls and Mrs. Augustus Rantoul, Mrs. Roger Warner, Mrs. Francis P. Sears, Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr., and Mrs. Leonard Ann were all helpful in making the afternoon a huge success . . .

Others enjoying the affair were Mrs. Samuel Welldon, Mrs. Henry Lee with her daughter, Marie Stevenson, Mary Curtis, Alice Thordike, Pauline McKean, Mrs. Forrester Clark, Ruth Ellen Patton, Marjorie Heard, Emily Dick and Martha Proctor, whose fiance, Dick Preston, lent a helping hand with preparations for the affair . . .

New Bonnet

Man's Hat Trimming
Wins First Prize

GIVEN A HANDFUL of feathers, flowers and ribbons, this is the "fetching" hat created by George O. Clark, 2d, for pretty Nancy Burrage, in the hilarious obstacle race at the field day on the Burrage estate in Ipswich yesterday afternoon. Nancy was photographed just after the judges chose her hat as the most artistic of the large assortment of snappy models created by other contestants in the race.

Style Show
At Cohasset

A fashion show of autumn styles modeled in the summery setting of a beautiful flower-laden garden surrounding a blue swimming pool, will be the slightly incongruous, yet highly enjoyable entertainment furnished at the annual tea and fashion show to benefit the Cohasset Social Service League on Tuesday, August 30.

The affair will be held in the garden of Mrs. Hugu Baneroff's Cohasset estate. Mrs. Philip Benson is general chairman of the committee, with the assistance of Mrs. Stanley Whipple, Mrs. William H. Brown, Mrs. George Benedict, Mrs. Roscoe Sherbrooke, Mrs. Henry H. Williams, Jr., and Mrs. Prescott Cumer.

Included among the models will be Mrs. Baneroff's daughters, Jane Baneroff, and Mrs. William C. Cox, also Mrs. Benedict and Anne Whipple.

Cambridge Couple
50 Years Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah T. Collins of Plainwood circle Cambridge were feted by relatives and friends today on the golden anniversary of their wedding. They were married in St. Mary's Church in Cambridge 50 years ago.

Joining in the celebration were their daughters Mrs. Edward Kelley of Billerica, Mrs. James Thompson of Cambridge and Mrs. Louis Hines of Burlington, and five grandchildren.

Hull Will Fete
Summer Residents

A L. ROADS will lead to Hull on Saturday for a gala whirl of events marking the 31st annual farewell to summer colonists.

On Friday evening a ball and reception will be held at the Pemberton Inn, launching Saturday's festivities which will open at nine o'clock in the morning.

David H. Fulton, founder of the seashore's celebration—which was started in 1907—is honorary president. The women's committee includes Mrs. Charles F. Hurley, Mrs. David H. Fulton, Mrs. Louis C. Brome, Mrs. Joseph Hezrak and Mrs. Frederick J. Crosby.

First feature of the program will be races for children at Sturges Memorial Field. This will be followed by quilt pitching with finals at two in the afternoon. Junior baseball games, movies and swimming competitions will also be held. The Hull Yacht Club will hold a special race for the craft of summer residents.

Among those serving on the committee are Charles F. Murphy, Gerald E. Bruen, Mrs. Joseph E. Cahill, Mrs. James F. Cody, Mrs. Joseph A. Conway, Mrs. John J. Conley, Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, Jr. and Mrs. W. T. A. Fitzgerald.

Also Thomas P. Glynn, A. T. Joannet, Selectman Clarence V. Nickerson, T. Robert Sullivan, Abraham P. Spitz, Mrs. Charles J. Fox, Mrs. Herbert C. Huntress, Mrs. Paul J. Jakmaiah, Mrs. A. T. Joannet, Mrs. Vincent J. Kelley, Mrs. Fred A. Keyes, Mrs. Harry W. Lane and Mrs. Charles J. Lavis.

Others are Mrs. J. J. Lynch, Mrs. Daniel J. Lynch, Mrs. Paul Lerman, Mrs. Charles A. McCarron, Mrs. Frederick W. Mansfield, Mrs. C. F. Murphy, Mrs. David H. Pomeroy, Mrs. John W. Quinn, Mrs. D. L. Security Fund 'Fraud' Hinted

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University

EAST JAFFERY, N. H., Aug. 25.—The assistant general counsel of the social security board has recently come forward with a brief in defense of the huge "fund" which the government is collecting but is not using for security.

You can judge the wisdom of the whole scheme by the quality of this brief in defense.

The brief is a long, rambling, and unconvincing paper. It is a collection of facts and figures, but it is not a logical argument. It is a collection of facts and figures, but it is not a logical argument.

Good News

DETROIT, August 25.—Industrial building is approaching the yearly volume of all time high years, is what General Electric Commercial Engineer A. F. Herce told electrical distributors and dealers here in convention.

NEW YORK, August 25.—For the first time in history, an eastern railroad has secured a voluntary debt concession from its bondholders. The Baltimore and Ohio has obtained an agreement calling for a temporary reduction on the interest on its funded debt.

Daily average crude oil production in the United States last week totaled 3,392,000 barrels. This estimate of the American Petroleum Institute placed output about 32,000 barrels above the previous weekly period.

National Power and Light, a holding company with operating subsidiaries in Central Atlantic and Southern states reported an earnings gain over last year in the first six months of 1938.

Whiskey consumption in July exceeded production. Stocks of bonded brands dropped 750,000 gallons, according to the report of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Tonnage of steel in use in the United States rose to a new high record in 1937. The American Iron and Steel Institute estimated that 30,000,000 more tons were in use than in the preceding year.

PHILADELPHIA, August 25.—The Norfolk and Western Railway reported that in the week ended August 20 it loaded more cars than in any week since Nov. 15, 1937.

Need Patience For Business Improvement

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

"If business is getting better why do we not see tangible evidence of improvement?"

That is the question we hear all day every day. And the answer is that it takes time for business to show improvement. It takes time for business to show improvement.

Trade Pickup Shown

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP).—Three federal agencies today offered statistical evidence of substantial business improvement in recent weeks.

The Federal Reserve Board said that the upward trend in steel tonnage, petroleum sales and other industries had been maintained in the last seven weeks, and the program cost in the previous seven months.

At the same time, a 25 per cent jump in customs collections indicated to officials that conditions had improved to the point where purchases of foreign raw materials and other merchandise were affected.

Since many basic raw materials imported by American industries are duty-free, officials regarded the customs gains as particularly significant.

The Commerce Department reported the first favorable turn in its index of national income in nearly a year. July income declined less than the usual seasonal amount and the nation's income from wages, dividends and other sources, was estimated at $35,300,000,000.

perhaps. Perhaps the first storm saved itself when the fragments of the train were dropped down the shore. And Clinton was forced to retreat to the shore. That Wesley Foster, the old Sox manager, couldn't have been less emotional and a bit more effective before he went away.

Well, one can't keep his cake and eat it too. For Foster went to Washington in the trade for Newcom and Newcom went to St. Louis in the trade for Joe Vismara and Newcom's security was ended by Clinton's being the chief manager in the drive of the Red Sox.

Yes, Clinton strikes the example of honesty and company spirit demonstrated by the Cleveland Irish-American boy touched off the first powder in the Red Sox ammunition dump. Perhaps he might have awakened them to a sense of shame for wasting recent years and taking Tom's money in return for their shoddy product.

One thing is certain. Twentieth century and next season the Red Sox scouts will fan the leaky roof circuits of the corn belt, the barefoot leagues of Southern canebreak and the citrus teams of the Pacific Coast for all the pitching talent money can buy. It's a little like locking the stable after the steed is stolen, for more foresightfulness in the club's minor league nursery department might have dug up another Bagby or a few more Dickmans and realized a pennant this autumn.

I still insist that Yawkey deserves more for his $200,000 investment in the 100 or more players who are tucked away in minor league checkrooms than the few who have been developed. And I am hearing, on vague though reasonable authority, that Yawkey plans to make Mickey Cochrane his farm executive next spring in the hope that his hustle and natural eye for an athlete will add the thaws and sinews necessary to bring that pennant home.

In all probability, Horton Smith is the only professional golfer who has never won a professional tournament. Having almost won, day after day, the championship of the United States, he has never been able to win it. He has made a record of 10 consecutive victories in the United States Open, but he has never won it. He has made a record of 10 consecutive victories in the United States Open, but he has never won it.

About 15,000 fans are expected to see the practice putting match between Horton Smith and the test putter in golf. The match will be held at the Longwood Cricket Club.

CAREFUL OF FINGERS

Horton has four balls with him when he goes out to practice putting. He wants to be sure to have one left for the "A" ball. Since these balls are so close to the hole, he has to be careful of his fingers. He has to be careful of his fingers.

Dartmouth Kicks Coach Blaik Fears Off for 1938 Over-Confidence

By JACK CONWAY

ROBERT "WHITEY" FULLER has kicked off for Dartmouth by releasing the Dartmouth Football Information Booklet which is jammed with interesting items about the "Big Green" eleven.

Mr. Boston

Dartmouth went through its 1937 schedule undefeated, and is looking forward to a successful season.

Coch Earl Blaik makes the following statement on the Dartmouth football outlook:

"The 1938 Dartmouth team will be a hard hitting, interesting group . . . in some ways capable of being a good team.

"In many years it is the first Dartmouth squad that may be plagued by the three 'O's' . . . internal optimism, external optimism and over-confidence; although the unexpected loss of four potential first team members should go far toward creating a much saner mental approach to our season.

"Our attack will remain basically the same as last year. However, the several innovations taken from football dating back to 1915 should add an interesting touch to the Dartmouth eleven."

Seven Lettermen at Hanover

THERE WILL be seven lettermen in the squad that reports to Coach Blaik at Hanover, N. H., on September 7. They are Captain Bob McLeod, All-America halfback; Whitey Miller, junior left end; Larry Dilkes, senior left tackle; Bob Gibson, senior center; Gus Zitrides, senior right guard; Harrington Gates, senior quarterback; and Colby Howe, senior fullback.

Other leading candidates for first string positions will be letterman Bill Hutchinson, who as a sophomore last season played such a brilliant game at fullback but who will be listed as a halfback this coming season; Jim Feeley, veteran line man who will be shifted from guard to tackle; Jim Parks, substitute last season to Captain Merrill Davis at right end.

Letterman Joe Pyrtle, key of Dartmouth's win over Yale two years ago, has unexpectedly shifted to Medical School, and will not be available for this year's eleven. Vernon Taylor, left tackle, and Dick Campbell, right guard, will also be lost to the Dartmouth team.

There will be a wealth of new material, and with so many veterans in the lineup it is expected that Coach Blaik will place a powerful team in the field.

It is obvious from Blaik's statement that he fears over-confidence as much as he does the eleven's "Big Green" team will oppose in the fall. College athletes on account of their youth are prone to over-confidence, especially when they possess top ability as is the case with so many of the members of this year's Dartmouth team.

Dartmouth will open its season against Bates at Hanover on September 24. Its first major test will be against Princeton at Princeton on October 8. Then comes Brown at Hanover on October 15, Harvard at Cambridge on October 22 and Yale at New Haven on October 29.

Dartmouth's clash with Cornell takes place at Ithaca on November 12, while on November 26 the sons of Dartmouth will battle Stanford at Palo Alto. Special arrangements are already being made for a football excursion to California for the Dartmouth-Stanford game. It is expected that several thousand Dartmouth men will make the trip to California to root for the "Big Green" eleven.

It is a perfect time for Dartmouth to invade California as it will be able to place one of the most powerful eleven in its history in the field.

It will be the third time Dartmouth has played Stanford. The two previous games were won by Stanford, and Dartmouth now wants revenge, and has an excellent chance to get it.

THERE IS tremendous interest in the golf exhibition at the Belmont Country Club on Sunday afternoon that will feature Lawson Little, Horton Smith, Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thomson . . . Each of these players is at the top of his game, and it is expected there will be some remarkable low scoring.

Little, Smith, Cooper and Thomson play at Bretton Woods, N. H., on Saturday afternoon, and following that match will come direct to Boston and go to the Ritz Carlton . . . Belmont has one of the finest club-houses of any Country Club in New England, while the golf course is spacious . . . This will make an ideal combination for the thousands of people who will attend the golf classic.

The public is invited to the big golf show . . . The price of tickets is only $1 . . . Every cent raised will be turned over to the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser . . . The golfers insisted on paying their own expenses so as to enrich the Basket Fund as much as possible.

The terrific hitting of the Red Sox during their present home stay is positive proof of my contention that the club would be leading the American League if it had two reliable pitchers . . . The club has displayed exceptional spirit in the face of reverses, and has always come back fighting.

DARTMOUTH ACE WINS

SCARSDALE, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—Bobby Jacobson, Dartmouth senior from Deal, N. J., won the qualifying medal in the metropolitan junior golf championship today with a round of 39-36-75 at the Sunningdale Country Club.

Frick in Plea for Hurlers

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—What with the hospitals putting in special wings to take care of sore-arm pitchers who have fallen in line of duty, President Ford Frick of the National League thinks it is high time something was done to preserve the species.

"It's got me worried," he admitted. "Something's got to be done to give the pitchers a better break, but I don't know exactly what the answer is yet."

The present season already has seen such mound stalwarts as Carl Hubbell, Dizzy Dean, Van Lingle Mungo, Lefty Grove, Hal Schumacher, Schoolboy Rowe, Tommy Bridges and Slick Castelman either carried off to the operating room or their efficiency so impaired that they are of little or no value to their clubs.

Bobby Feller and Cliff Melton, two of the game's most promising youngsters, have "lost" their fast ball. Johnny Vander Meer, after a sensational start, has lost the charm he held over the batters.

BLAME BALL

"It's the lively ball that's killing them off," said Frick. "Not a doubt of it. The pitcher is being forced to bear down on every throw to punish his arm on every pitch. There's never a spot where he can ease up."

"I think we helped our National League pitchers a little by putting thicker covers and stitching on our balls this season, but it's not enough. What I would like to do is slow up the ball inside, really cut down on these cheap hits. The manufacturers, though, claim it can't be done, that if they take any life out of the 'inards' the ball will go soft and lop-sided."

NEW PELLETS HURT

"That isn't the whole trouble, either. Did you realize we are throwing an average of 38 new balls into every game nowadays? That means—let's see—that a pitcher has to toss a slick, new ball an average of about every sixth pitch. Did you ever try to curve a new ball, right out of the box?"

"Used to be the two pitchers didn't have to handle more than a dozen balls a game. They lasted a long time and were great pitchers in those days. The umpires didn't throw a ball out just because it became a little discolored. Also, they were permitted to use spitters, emery balls and other deliveries that helped them."

UP TO CLUB OWNERS

"As I see it, the club owners simply are going to have to get together and agree on a relief program. For my part, I'm going to talk it every opportunity I get. Something is certain to be done eventually."

Luck Smiles On Armstrong

This is the fifth in a series of thirteen articles by Henry Armstrong, called by experts "the greatest fighter for his weight" in the ring today. Carried to the top of his profession by intelligent perseverance, "Hammering Henry" will tell an intimate story of the struggle that brought him three championships of the world—from amateur to preliminary boy to the highest awards of pugilism.

By HENRY ARMSTRONG

(World Featherweight, Welterweight and Lightweight Champion)

I didn't go so well at the outset under the management of Mr. Wirt Ross. As I remember it, I lost the first two matches that he made for me, but I was learning all the time. By 1933 I was fighting main events and beginning to develop a punch and the boxing style which seems to intrigue every one who watches me in action.

Incidentally, I copied that rushing, perpetual punching system of mine from Davey Abad, a game, vicious and for a long time thoroughly capable Panamanian who appeared on the West Coast. He was my first hero—and among the first to hand me a setback just when I seemed to be getting well under way as a main event fighter.

I had gone down into Mexico City and dropped a close and questionable decision to Baby Arizmendi in 1934. While there I encountered two brand-new experiences. First the promoter ran off with the money, then I was taken ill with some malady brought on by the high altitude, and put out of commission for more than a month.

I fought myself back into shape when I was able to be up and about again, and, on New Year's Day 1935, I was back in Mexico City for a return match with Arizmendi. This one was even more vicious than the first fight—but again he was given a disputed decision—I always have felt that I won both of those.

LATER BEAT ARIZMENDI

I say that with honest conviction, and subsequent meetings would seem to bear it out. I have beaten him twice in California, once a while back and once very recently. But long before getting around to those second and third meetings with Arizmendi, I was going through the toughest of all struggles in the boxing game—that period when a fighter is emerging from the ranks of the second-raters into a place among the title contenders.

Just when I was going good again, I went into Mexico City for a third time, on this occasion to meet Abad, and, lo and behold, I never questioned that one. I knew he had beaten me.

Then I really got into high and second two decision victories over him while taking on all other opponents as fast as they bobbed up, including Arizmendi, in the first of our two bouts at Los Angeles. That was the fight that really made me. By that time, August, 1936, Arizmendi generally was recognized as the featherweight champion of the world and he had a great following all along the Pacific Coast where he had made some of his greatest battles. But I managed to outpoint him and definitely establish myself among the top-flight featherweights. I regard that bout as the turning point of my career.

It was after that fight that Mr. Mead bought my contract from Mr. Ross for $10,000 and brought me along to the position I hold now.

With Al Jutson—who advanced Mr. Mead the money to get out of financial control of my services—rooting me on, and Mr. Mead making the matches, advising me and helping me I hit the trail toward the titles I have won.

Henry Armstrong will have another article on his amazing ring career in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

Ford Defeated In Dilboy Ring

More than 6000 amateur fight fans witnessed a thrilling card of Inter-city competition at the Dumbo Field in Somerville last night. The winners were crowned Boston to have one victor, Don Bouchard and Providence one, Berlin N. H. was shut out.

Don Bouchard of Boston was Mike De Napoli, Reindale youngster, who dropped a very close one over Vince Semperino, N. Y., in the 147 pound division in a thrilling three rounder.

Reindale's other fighter, Bradley Lewis in the 160's, and he made short work of Tony Tarranto, Medford gamester, stopping him in the first frame. Don Perfetti added to the Reindale tally by dropping Guy Vitagliano of Medford, Boggy Marchese, won via the default route over Al Bouchard of Kingston.

Reindale's last fight took a licking for two rounds from "Dicky" Ford but came back with such a rush in the closing stages that he won. The judges handed him the award.

Four Redskins On Hospital List

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (INS)—Coach Ray Flaherty of the Washington Redskins, champion pro-footballers, is scheduled to cut the team down to its regular 30-player limit today by demoting five rookies and "farming out" three.

Four regulars are on the hospital list. Capt. "Turk" Edwards has an arm infection; Sammy Baugh, bruised instep; Don Irwin, twisted knee, and Ed Justice, wrenched shoulder.

Van Ryn-Allison Team Has Played Together 5 Years

By WALTER KILEY

Those grand old men of the courts, hardy Texas perennials, continue to raise their usual ructions in the National Doubles parade of notables at Longwood Cricket Club.

John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, whose careers are closely interwoven both as business and tennis partners, are hoary headed veterans according to the accepted competitive tennis standards.

Van, dark as Wilmer is blond, has passed his 31st birthday. Allison, who can also boast the national singles title of 1935, is on the shady side of 33.

But now with only a couple of weeks of serious tourney competition under their belts, with everybody expecting that the strain of years had rebuffed them of staying power, they bel up once again and comprise a nasty menace to Donald Rudge and Gene Marks, whom they meet in a semi-final match tomorrow afternoon.

PARTNERS SINCE 1925

These Austin, Texas, folks have been dominant factors in the National Doubles ever since they threw their fortunes into the same melting pot back there in 1925.

Police Arrest 5 'Chi.' Bookies

CHICAGO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Sump-tuous furnishings are disappearing from Chicago handbooks since State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney's axe squad swung into action against gambling establishments. Equipment and furnishings valued at $10,000 to $15,000 were found—and destroyed—in the first handbooks visited by the axe squad recently.

Yesterday the axe detail made its eighth and ninth raids but found only cheap second-hand furniture and fixtures. Handbook operators were reported to be removing the expensive stuff to save it from destruction.

Five men were arrested and 450 patrons, a third of them women, were driven out of the handbooks in yesterday's raids.

Lotta have been in this combination, Allison-Van Ryn have been better. For the latter not only won the prize title in 1931 and 1935, but in the eight years they've teamed have reached the finals six times and the semi-finals seven. Tennis-wise critics were amazed at the speed of Allison as he and Van Ryn swept Bobby Riggs and Betsy Grant off the quarter-final courts.

The Texan never showed to better advantage in these parts and seemed to be improving with age. His clever court covering, his remarkable retrieve, his overhand smashing carried Van Ryn with him to an unexpectedly easy win.

OFFER REAL COMPETITION
If the Budge-Mako favorites are to survive into the final round of Saturday, they must needs step on the gas. The Southern gentlemen gave them a hiding in the 1935 finals and the order was reversed the next season when Budge-Mako won their only doubles title.

They met last Saturday in the finals of the Newport Casino tourney. And the present Wimbledon champions won.

But in justice to the brokerage partners, they had little preliminary work together. Van Ryn having stayed at home until the last moment to tend to business, while Wilmer came up in advance and tested his ancient links in the eastern grass court campaign.

Links Carroll To New Death

AUBURN, Me., Aug. 25—Investigation of a startling story, tending to involve Francis M. Carroll in still another slaying, was begun today by Sheriff Rex V. Bridges of Androscoggin County.

Pearl White's Kin Cut Off

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (INS)—Cutting off a brother and sister, with $ each, at will made out a year ago by Pearl White, first heroine of the old movie serial thrillers, was filed for probate today in surrogate's court.

Miss White, reported immensely wealthy when she died, left all her personal effects to a wealthy Greek friend, Theodore Cozzika of Cairo, who was at her bedside when she died.

To her brother, Fred C. White, and her sister, Mrs. Loy M. Williams, the actress bequeathed "the sum of $1 each." The will directed the executor to make provision for her father, 84-year-old Ed G. White of Springfield, Mo.

In the new story, Carroll, former deputy sheriff of Oxford county now serving life for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield in South Faria, is named by George Violette, 59, a woodsman, as the man he saw quarreling with John W. Penny at 9:15 p. m. last May 18.

At 11:15 p. m., Penny was found bludgeoned to death in the filling station he conducted here.

Although stating that he is inclined to be doubtful of any link between Carroll and the Penny murder, he conducted here.

Two Down--16 to Go

"Skittles," a kitten belonging to 13-year-old Maria K. Oldroyd, Harvard street, Brookline, had pure cream for breakfast today.

Nothing less was good enough for a celebrity, which Skittles was after 12 hours of imprisonment and a thrilling rescue which called out the fire department.

The kitten became wedged in a two-inch space, 12 feet deep, between two buildings. Al Morris, agent of the Animal Rescue League, solved the problem after city firemen were baffled. He lowered a rag saturated with chloroform, secured one of Skittles' paws with a noose, and lifted the kitten to safety.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—A woman had a pet cat ill of pneumonia. Hoping to end its suffering, she told the Greater New York Society Council, she put the cat in a basket between two cars in a garage. Then she started both motors and locked the doors.

Thirty minutes later she peered into the carbon monoxide-filled garage. The cat appeared improved. When she opened the doors, the cat marched out—apparently well.

CAPE TRAIN KILLS COUPLE AT CROSSING

Two persons were killed today when the automobile in which they were riding was struck at Proctor's Crossing in West Barnstable by a New Haven Boston-bound passenger train.

A driver's license found in the twisted wreckage of the automobile bore the name of Donna Catherine Mahon de Faria, wife of Dr. Victor e Verdoes de Faria, Portuguese consul-general in New York.

Dr. and Mrs. de Faria, it was learned, had been vacationing at East Sandwich, on the Cape.

AMBASSADOR CALLED
Whether it was in fact Dr. and Mrs. de Faria who were the victims could not definitely be ascertained.

Hyannis police communicated with the Portuguese ambassador to the United States, Dr. Joao A. d. Bianchi, summering at Osterville, and he went post haste to the Doane Beal undertaking rooms in Hyannis, where the bodies had been taken.

Medical Examiner Edward F. Curry said the bodies were so badly mangled, he was unable to tell definitely pending further examination.

Gets Job, Faints

The shock of getting a job was too much for Richard Hayes, 19, Plymouth street, Cambridge, today.

Hayes has been hunting work—unsuccessfully—for two years, he told police here. He walked into a restaurant in Dock square, Boston, asked Stanley Smith, the manager for a job.

"O. K.," said Smith. "You're hired." Hayes fainted. Police were called, took him to City Hospital. Smith said he'd hold the job open for him 'til he recovered.

Police Quell 250 In So. End Strike

Wild disorder and police reserves to Kneeland street, South End, today, as more than 250 striking garment workers joined in mass picketing of a building housing 15 garment manufacturing shops.

While men and women pickets and hundreds of sympathizers booed and shouted, as strikers, including one woman, were arrested and bundled off by patrol wagon to Warren avenue station.

There they were boxed on charges of obstructing traffic. Union officials promptly provided $25 bail for each defendant.

Tabor Crew Edges Britons

MARION, Aug. 25 (INS)—The first international eight-oared schoolboy crew race ever held in America was won today by Tabor Academy on rough waters of Sippican harbor.

The American crew defeated its English rival, Radley College, by a half boat length over the mile course.
